(7 x 2 = 14 Marks)

Answer

- (a) Incorrect: The documentation of the overall audit strategy is a record of the key decisions considered necessary to properly plan the audit and to communicate significant matters to the engagement team.
- (b) Incorrect: Communicating key audit matters in the auditor's report are in the context of the auditor having formed an opinion on the financial statements as a whole. Communicating key audit matters in the auditor's report is not a separate opinion on individual matters.

Alternative solution

Incorrect: Communicating key audit matters in the auditor's report is not a separate opinion on individual matters. The auditor shall describe each key audit matter, using an appropriate subheading, in a separate section of the auditor's report under the heading "Key Audit Matters".

(c) Incorrect: Depreciation represents systematic allocation of the depreciable value of an item of PPE over its useful life whereas amortisation represents systematic allocation of the depreciable amount of an intangible asset over its useful life.

(d) Correct: The remuneration, in addition to the fee payable to an auditor, includes the expenses, if any, incurred by the auditor in connection with the audit of the company and any facility extended to him.

However, it does not include any remuneration paid to him for any other service rendered by him at the request of the company.

Sufficiency is the measure of the quantity of audit evidence.

(f) Correct: Experienced auditors use analytical procedures in all stages of the audit. Analytical Procedures are required in the planning phase and it is often done during the testing phase. In addition, these are also required during the completion phase.

(g) Correct: Some of the State Acts provide that every society shall contribute annually towards the Education Fund of the State Federal Society, at the appropriate rate as per the class of the society. Therefore, contribution to Education Fund is a charge on profits and not an appropriation.

(h) Incorrect: If a company uses an integrated enterprise resource planning system (ERP) viz., SAP, Oracle etc., then it is considered more complex to audit.

On the other hand, if a company is using off-the-shelf accounting software, then it is likely to be less automated, less complex and easy to audit.

Question 2

(a) While designing an audit sample, the auditor shall determine a sample size sufficient to reduce the sampling risk to an acceptably low level. In this context, explain sampling risk and non-sampling risk. (4 Marks)

(b) You are appointed as an auditor of Gama Ltd. Your audit assistant wants to understand the meaning of Audit Risk. Explain him the meaning of Audit Risk with example. Also guide him as to what is not included in Audit Risk. (4 Marks)

(c) An auditor has to exercise professional judgement in determining materiality. Explain the factors that may affect the identification of an appropriate benchmark in determining materiality for the financial statements as whole. (3 Marks)

- (d) While auditing in an automated environment, how data analytics can be used in testing electronic records and data residing in IT systems using spread sheets and specialised audit tools?
(3 Marks)

Answer

- (a) Sampling risk – The risk that the auditor's conclusion based on a sample may be different from the conclusion if the entire population were subjected to the same audit procedure.

Sampling risk can lead to two types of erroneous conclusions:

- (i) In the case of a test of controls, that controls are more effective than they actually are, or in the case of a test of details, that a material misstatement does not exist when in fact it does. The auditor is primarily concerned with this type of erroneous conclusion because it affects audit effectiveness and is more likely to lead to an inappropriate audit opinion.
- (ii) In the case of a test of controls, that controls are less effective than they actually are, or in the case of a test of details, that a material misstatement exists when in fact it does not. This type of erroneous conclusion affects audit efficiency as it would usually lead to additional work to establish that initial conclusions were incorrect.

Non-sampling risk – The risk that the auditor reaches an erroneous conclusion for any reason not related to sampling risk.

Examples of non-sampling risk include the use of inappropriate audit procedures, misinterpretation of audit evidence, human mistakes and failure to recognise a misstatement or deviation, relying on erroneous information.

- (b) Audit risk means the risk that the auditor gives an inappropriate audit opinion when the financial statements are materially misstated. Audit risk is a function of the risks of material misstatement and detection risk. Thus, it is the risk that the auditor may fail to express an appropriate opinion in an audit assignment.

Example

Gama Limited purchased a Plant and Machinery for ₹ 2 Crores in the financial year 2021-2022. The accountant of Gama limited debited ₹ 2 crores in the repair and maintenance account in the statement of Profit and loss instead of taking it to the balance sheet as PPE and claim depreciation on it. While auditing the accounts of this company the auditor may not notice this and consequently may not report anything regarding the plant and machinery. Therefore, opinion given by the auditor would be inappropriate resulting in audit risk.

What is not included in Audit Risk?

- (i) Audit risk does not include the risk that the auditor might express an opinion that the financial statements are materially misstated when they are not. This risk is ordinarily insignificant.

- (ii) Further, audit risk is a technical term related to the process of auditing. It does not refer to the auditor's business risks such as loss from litigation, adverse publicity, or other events arising in connection with the audit of financial statements.
- (c) Use of Benchmarks in Determining Materiality for the Financial Statements as a Whole: Determining materiality involves the exercise of professional judgment. A percentage is often applied to a chosen benchmark as a starting point in determining materiality for the financial statements as a whole. Factors that may affect the identification of an appropriate benchmark include the following:
1. The elements of the financial statements
Example
Assets, liabilities, equity, revenue, expenses;
 2. Whether there are items on which the attention of the users of the particular entity's financial statements tend to be focused.
Example
For the purpose of evaluating financial performance users may tend to focus on profit, revenue or net assets.
 3. The nature of the entity where the entity is at in its life cycle and the industry and economic environment in which the entity operates. The entity's ownership structure and the way it is financed.
Example
If an entity is financed solely by debt rather than equity, users may put more emphasis on assets and claims on them than on the entity's earnings.
 4. The relative volatility of the benchmark.
- (d) Data analytics can be used in testing of electronic records and data residing in IT systems using spreadsheets and specialized audit tools viz., IDEA and ACL to perform the following:
1. Check completeness of data and population that is used in either test of controls or substantive audit tests.
 2. Selection of audit samples – random sampling, systematic sampling.
 3. Re-computation of balances – reconstruction of trial balance from transaction data.
 4. Reperformance of mathematical calculations – depreciation, bank interest calculation.
 5. Analysis of journal entries as required by SA 240.
 6. Fraud investigation.

7. Evaluating impact of control deficiencies.
